Gregory Rehmke directs programs at Economic Thinking and manages FEE Seminars for homeschool students. More than 5,000 homeschool students have attended Economic Thinking and FEE workshops and seminars. Greg manages www.EconomicThinking.org and is coauthor of The Complete Idiot’s Guide to Global Economics.

Economics in a Box is an economics course for homeschoolers that can be combined with speech and debate. Students attending FEE Seminars learn economic reasoning that will help with speech and debate. Time spent researching and debating the economics of debate topics, advances economic understanding. For more information, see:

www.EconomicThinking.org/EconomicsinaBox

FEE’s flagship publication, THE FREEMAN, is available to students at no charge.

FEE Essay Contest for Homeschool Students

Frederic Bastiat’s short masterpiece, The Law, has inspired thousands of homeschool debate students. The Foundation for Economic Education is accepting essays based upon The Law. First prize is $1000, second is $500, plus honorable mentions and a chance to be published in THE FREEMAN or Notes From FEE.

Contest rules available at www.fee.org/debate.

Write for a copy of The Law, or see online:

About the Foundation for Economic Education (FEE)

FEE was founded in 1946 by Leonard Read to study and advance the freedom philosophy. FEE’s mission is to offer the most consistent case for the “first principles” of freedom: the sanctity of private property, individual liberty, the rule of law, the free market, and the moral superiority of individual choice and responsibility over coercion.
